Triple P® (Positive Parenting Program) teaches families how to spend less time battling misbehavior and more time building close relationships. Families develop the positive parenting skills to manage stress and encourage healthy habits. Triple P® does not tell anyone how to be a parent. Triple P® offers practical advice, backed by science and the successes seen by thousands of families. Parents find tips for a range of issues, from raising toddlers to learn how to cope with complex problems at home and school. Triple P® aims to enhance parents' self-sufficiency in managing children's behavior. Triple P® achieves this aim by teaching parents skills for promoting their children's development, social-emotional competence and self-regulation. Triple P® is for parents with children 0-12 years of age.

Primary Care Triple P® is a short-term (4 sessions) individual parent coaching for parents seeking information about how to address specific parenting issues or child behavior that is mild to moderate in severity and has onset in the past 6 months. Examples include, but are not limited to tantrums, sleep or bedtime routines, fighting and aggression, separation anxiety, disobedience, lying, self-esteem and school behavior. In addition, Triple P® offers parent education seminars, workshops and small discussion groups.

Nurturing Parenting Program - The Nurturing Parenting Programs are validated, trauma-informed, family-centered programs designed to build nurturing skills as alternatives to abusive parenting and child rearing attitudes and practices. The ultimate outcomes are to stop the generational cycle of child abuse by building nurturing parenting skills; reduce the rate of recidivism; reduce the rate of juvenile delinquency and alcohol abuse; and lower the rate of teenage pregnancies. The programs feature activities to foster positive parenting skills and self-nurturing, home practice exercises, family nurturing time, and activities to promote positive brain development in children birth to 18 years.
