How does a child's sensory engine run? See, smell, taste, touch, hear, and movement – senses play an important role in processing the world around us. A child's sensory engine can speed up, slow down, stay in neutral, and even need to be reset sometimes. Learn how early care and education providers can help maintain a child's sensory engine through co-regulation and hands-on techniques in the classroom. Participants will:

- Complete a "Sensory Profile"
- Learn how sensory input is developed and processed in early childhood
- Understand how to read a child's "sensory gauge"
- Practice techniques that can be used in the classroom

This workshop applies broadly to children. It will also address sensory approaches for children who have experienced trauma or have other needs regarding sensory.

Individuals needing Certificate of Attendance or Registry Credit, the cost is $15. Payment is not refundable.
