Gaining the cooperation of children can help maintain harmony in the classroom. Still, this can be easier said than done. This workshop explores strategies that encourage cooperation, reduce power struggles, and increase the likelihood of children responding as we expect.

Participants will learn and practice multiple skills that can be used in the classroom from building relationships to redirection, to giving choices. The workshop is geared toward children ages 2 to 8 years old.

Register by January 16, 2025
(Space is limited—when class capacity is reached, registration will close.)
